On the auspicious day of Yud Aleph Nissan 5769

Our world, more than ever, needs the healing that can come only through universal ethical and moral conduct. The core principles that characterize a moral society were defined and codified in the Bible thousands of years ago. These precepts are known as the Seven Universal Noahide Laws, given by the Lord of all mankind through Moses on Mt. Sinai.

The Noahide Laws embrace the belief in one Creator, who is the source of all morality, justice and integrity. His universal laws require all people to refrain from 1) murder, 2) robbery, 3) adultery, 4) incest, 5) blasphemy, and 6) cruelty to animals. Likewise, it is incumbent upon all societies to 7) establish courts that dispense true justice.

On this auspicious day, the birthday of the Rebbe, Rabbi Menachem M. Schneerson, we acknowledge his all-encompassing love for humankind. The Rebbe has established centers all over the globe, where his dedicated emissaries encourage and support global education. He has asked all people to embrace the Noahide Commandments, as they are the key to the healing of society, and will bring the world closer to the day, when the Messiah will lead the world to Redemption.

We, the undersigned, hereby declare our appreciation of the Rebbe's efforts to bring peace and harmony to the world through adherence to these eternal principles, and call upon world leaders and caring men and women everywhere to foster these values as the world moves inexorably toward an era of universal brotherhood and redemption for all humankind.

Long live our Master and Teacher, the Rebbe, King Moshiach, forever and ever
